Seventh Edition—Twenty fourth Thousand!

Dr. PULTE's survivaled and unappreschable
HOMGEOPATHIC DOMESTIC PHYSICIAN, has just at demone AN ENTIRE and COMPLETE REVISION
THROUGHOUT, and is now published much ENLARGED
IN SIZE, and IMPROVED IN STYLE OF PUBLICATION.

"The Author, desirous of communicating the knowledge of these new discoveries to the non-professional public as early as possible, has embedied them in the present new edition of his sork. As they thus appear for the first time in a book on Do-mestic Practice (no other similar work having as yet presented the m), he feels it his duty to assure the non-professional reader, that these new remedies and methods of treatment, as produced in this edition, have all been fully and most satisfactorily tested in his own practice."

is this edition, have all been larry and most have also been made in his own practice."

Very important additions and alterations have also been made in the chapters on the Discases of Women.

Another improvement not contained in any other." Domestic Practice. Is a separate and more complete treatise on Domestic Surgery, with Libertrations showing among other things how to Surgery, with Illustrations showing among other things how to bandage fractured or bruised limbs.

"In simost every chapter the reader will find alterations and additions the latter in the whole book, amount to nearly 150 pages. These of course increase the cost of the book; but it is presomed that the great increase of its intrinsic value will far noutweigh the trifle of its increased cost. One case of siokness more successfully treated than heretof re, will amply compensate the reader for the outlay of the former as well as the present price of the book."

As no work of the kind has attained one third the sale (this is the twenty fourth housand) of commendations of the most eminent practitioners in the United States and Ecrope.

Watches, Jewelrn, &c. THE PERFECTION of MECHANISM.—

These WATCHES are manufactured on the same system that he made American invariant the best in the world. It substitutes the precision and rapidity of machinery for the skill of handleraft. The factory consists of a compiete series of machines, devised and made expressly for this establianment, asshof which works true to the thousandth part of a hair turning out its own particular part, so as to be an exact fit in any one of a thousand Watches. High skill with good lack may equal such work, now and then, but must fail generally, and always be dearer. The case of repair is obvious, because the manufacturers have always on hand parts to replace any that may be damaged. Their simplicity and stability of structure tunder these watches the least liable te get out of order, and they are confidently recommended as superior in every respect, and especially in the correctness of their Time, to imported Watches of the same price. As soon as their merits are known, people will no more think of importing Watches to get good ones, than they now do of importing the temperature with that view.
